POWAHI SCAN

Port Washington High School

Port Washington, Wisconsin

1958-1962 . . . these mark the years that our class has docked at Port Washington High School. This our Log, the POWAHISCAN, reveals the goals set, the achievements gained, the trials and joys sustained. Locked within these pages is a record of those who have survived the hazardous voyage and of the spirited encounters with other ships. This permanent document of the fair and foul weather that we experienced serves as a remembrance for us and for those who governed and traveled with us. Now our crew weighs anchor, each member taking his cargo of knowledge to use either on further academic seas or protective terra firma.

Like Sandburg's fog we have come timidly on little cat feet . . . and now silently move on.

To you, Port Washington, our port of call, we dedicate this POWAHISCAN.
We have come to you from surrounding areas and taken the educational opportunities you have so graciously offered. As we leave the security of this port and face the open seas of the future, we hope to always represent you in a veracious manner.

Administration

"Now Hear This - - -

We all know that our admiral, Mr. Frank Hoehn, is at the helm of the good ship Port High; but few of us realize the tremendous task of keeping our ship afloat. His is the job of selecting new skippers to the faculty and recommending their employment to the Board of Education. The preparation of the budget also falls under his jurisdiction. It is an enormous task and one that must run smoothly. To him goes the thanks for our safe and profitable journey.

MISS BARBARA KENDALL is secretary to our principal, Mr. Ritchie. When not typing his letters and reports, she makes the recordings of the black and red letter grades. By the looks of the diamond bangle on her left hand, she'll soon have her own red-letter day.

MRS. RITA SCHMITZ, new to our staff this year, is chief secretary to our superintendent, Mr. Hoehn. Besides typing his letters, she keeps the teachers happy by turning into a veritable First National Bank on the 15th and 30th of every month.

MISS JOANNE ROOB is clerk-typist for the high school. Each morning she can be seen scuttling mail to the Washington Heights office before she settles to work in the High School.

Mr. Douglas Ritchie, our principal, won this year's award for being the most mis-quoted man of the year. A passing comment to a female student about her flowing tresses hit the front page of many state newspapers in a twisted manner: "Long Hair For Girls Banned at Port High." With this year's bouffant styles, Mr. Ritchie's greatest fear was a repercussion from Parisian hair stylists. This wasn't enough. He won state wide mis-quoted fame on prom attire, late courting hours, and HAND HOLD-IND IN THE HALLS. For our renowned Captain it has been an eventful year.

A convert to Thoreau's dislike for the mechanical world is our principal. Daylight saving throws fear into this man's heart and school clocks take a turn for the worse and some don't turn at all. Not to be outdone, the public address system--the private eye and ear of every room--developed ubiquitous hissing, tapping, crackling and blowing noise. Look out, Walden.

- - - This Is Your Captain Speaking!"

Being called to the office isn't always an ominous portent. But if it is, a friendly reprimand from Mr. Ritchie is advice well deserved. We don't envy your job, sir!

MRS. BLANCHE ALDER, our Reading Instructor, advises the Book Club which operates a store of paper-backs. Many Seniors will remember her class as one of the most interesting and educational.

MR. JOHN ANGELOS teaches Speech and one section of Senior English. His direction of "Mr. Barry's Etchings" received rave notices in Variety. He also assisted in building the set.

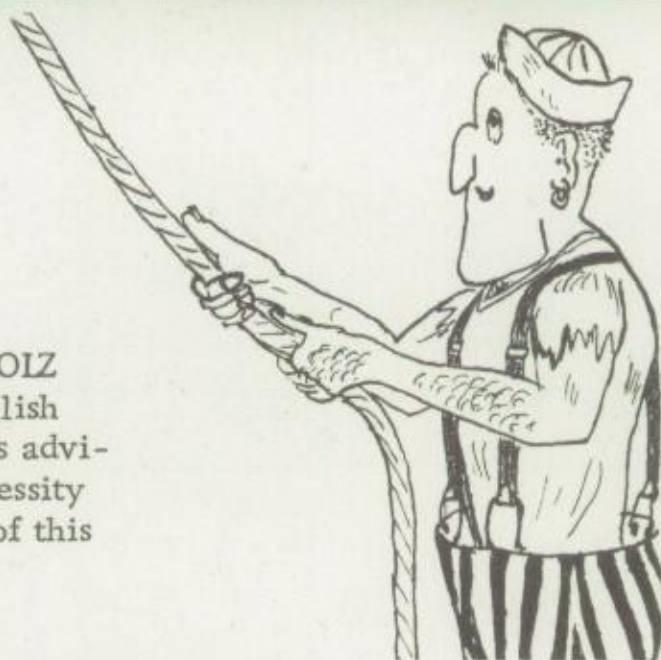

MR. WILLIAM BREISTER teaches Latin. He coaches the Tennis team (announces only when they win) and guides the Latin Club's bacchanalias.

MISS SHIRLEY CHOVAN teaches English to the sophomore class. She calmly watches from her director's chair as the Drama Club polishes its Oscars.

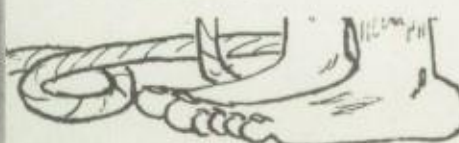

MISS VIRGINIA HOLZ teaches Junior English and is the Annual's advisor. She was a necessity in the production of this year's ANNUAL.

MISS MARILYN HUNT, who replaced Mrs. Kratzer at the beginning of the second semester, teaches English to all the Freshmen and stimulated their interest in drama activities.

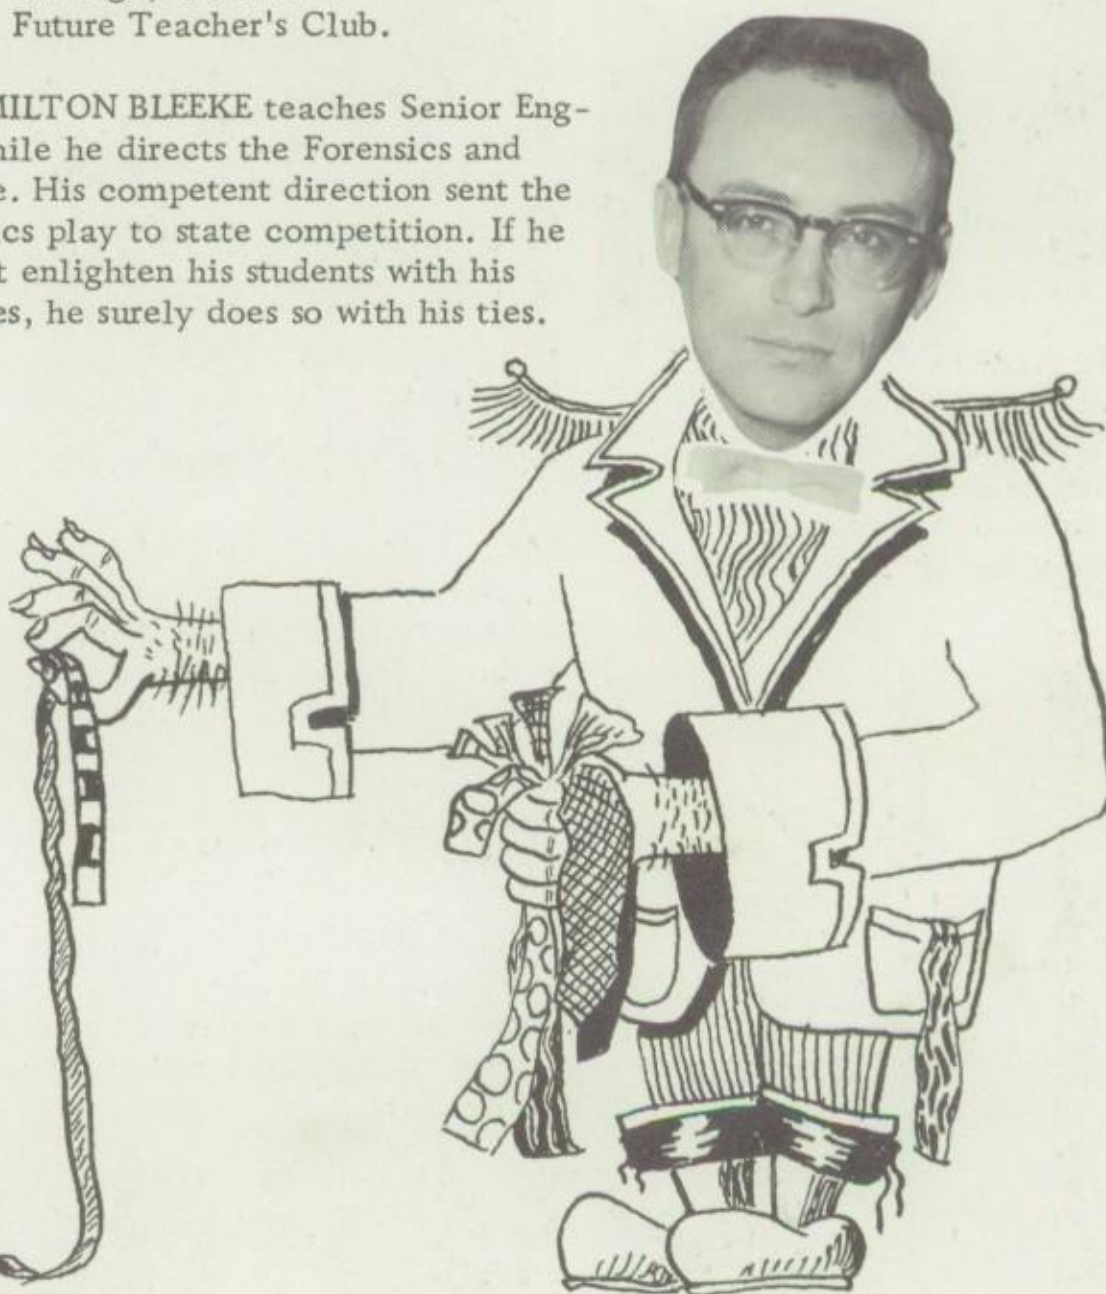

MR. MICHAEL GIERYIC, our efficient Librarian, always finds time to help a distressed student select an interesting book. He advises the Library Club.

MRS. HELEN KRATZER, who taught Freshman English, left after the first semester to await the arrival of a new addition to her family. While at Port High, she snared members into the Future Teacher's Club.

MR. MILTON BLEEKE teaches Senior English while he directs the Forensics and Debate. His competent direction sent the forensics play to state competition. If he doesn't enlighten his students with his lectures, he surely does so with his ties.

Language-Arts Department . . . Foreign and Domestic.

MISS MARGE LEDERER is frequently seen in the language laboratory wearing her Mickey Mouse headgear. She teaches Spanish I and II in addition to directing the Spanish Club. OLE!

MISS JUDY VANDER-LINDEN teaches English to the freshmen. She also assisted Port Forensic students to a very successful season.

MR. GENE SAMSE, who towers over his English and German classes, also indoctrinates the German Club.

MR. ALBERT NIELSEN, who teaches Physics and Physical Science, firmly believes that a key to success will open many a treasure chest. He advises the Electronics Club.

MR. THOMAS J. THOMAS attempts to keep his respective formulas straight in his chemistry and Freshman Algebra classes. He makes the Camera Club click.

MR. ROLAND VERTZ teaches Biology. As coach of the Varsity Basketball team he is liable to put the school in debt with all his broken chalkboards. He also coaches the Freshman Football team and advises the Varsity Club.

Science, Math, and

MR. GORDON GATZKE, alias "Gubber," directs the third-floor Biology zoo. (Daily tours given for the asking.) He instituted an advanced evening course and still fits in advising the Natural Science Club and directing ticket sales for school activities.

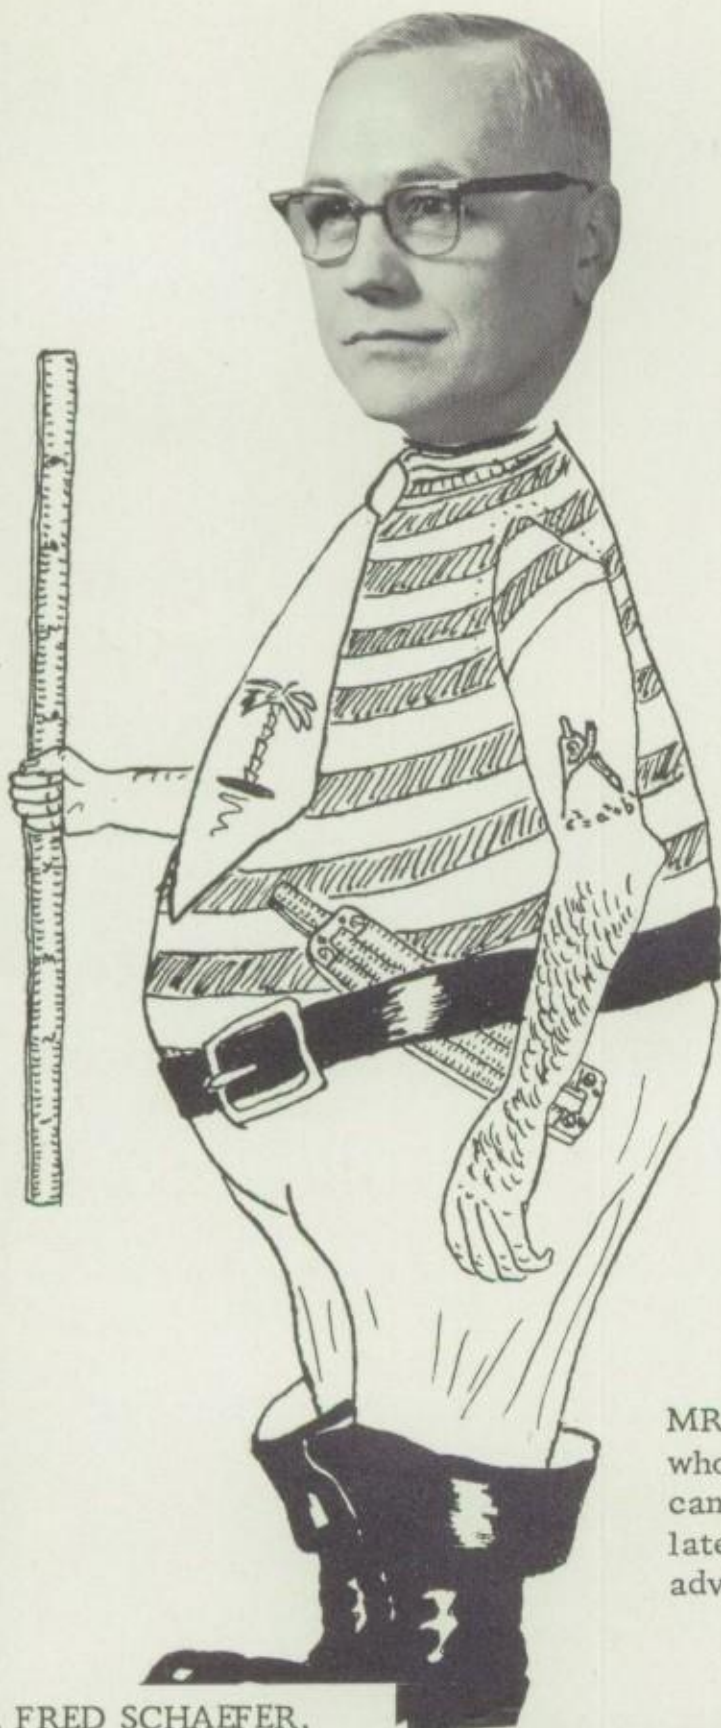

MR. JAMES BOLLINGER teaches Geometry and tolerates his Physical Education classes. He coached what seemed to be an invincible football team. Boys' Intramurals and the Varsity Club are his dictates.

MR. DON LYNDAHL teaches Mathematics, both Algebra and Geometry. As Wrestling Coach, he has helped his team win many matches in addition to winning many a match himself.

MR. ALLAN URNESS equates Algebra and Physical Science. He piloted this year's J.V. Football team through an undefeated season and celebrated by purchasing a platinum Thunderbird. He and the J-V Basketball Team had a profitable year.

MR. ROBERT HEAPS teaches U.S. History and possesses that hard to find quality which holds the attention of all his students. He also directs all junior activities.

MRS. HELEN HUGUNIN teaches two sections of World History. She enriches our knowledge of the past.

Social Studies Departments

MR. CLARENCE DEGROOT, who readily agrees that Math can be elementary, calculates his time so he can still advise our Student Council.

MR. JAMES MURRAY is said to teach American Problems. It pays to follow his advice whether it is given on the football field or in the classroom.

MRS. DOROTHY HUBER teaches Social Science to the freshmen and offers her skills as Guidance Counselor one hour each day. She AAA approves restaurants.

MISS DIANNE VAN STAVEREN, joined the faculty the second semester to take up Social Science where Mr. Schaefer left off. She is presently occupied writing her Master's thesis.

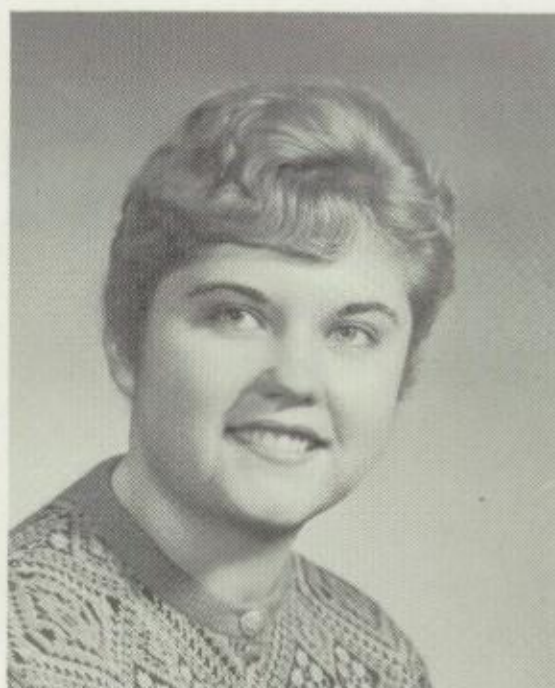

MR. FRED SCHAEFER, who taught Social Science, was compelled to leave us early in the year because "someone needed him more than we did." He coached both Junior Varsity Basketball and Football and won renown as a consummate float builder.

MRS. CAROL ROSEWITZ, an able teacher of Short-hand I and Typing II, takes care of the job placements for Senior girls. She prides herself on being an avid admirer of Dr. Ben Casey and has a blouse to prove it.

MR. DALE TESSMER teaches Bookkeeping, Typing, and one class of English. He does an excellent job as the senior's lookout for paper bag poachers.

MISS ELIZABETH TREWYN, who is the General Math and Typing teacher, does a great job as PIRATE advisor. She gave new dimensions to our school spirit by doing wonders with the Block this past year.

Business Education Industrial Arts

MR. LYLE TEPPEN, a new teacher at Port High this year, teaches Industrial Arts and helps hold down the fort at the Vocational School. Freshman Basketball keeps him moving.

MR. SAM DE MERIT, who teaches Industrial Arts, has developed and directed the Athletic Department. After more than thirty years of service to Port High, he retires to devote his full time to directing the City's Recreation Department program.

MISS MARY DIETRICH teaches Home Economics to grades 7 through 11. She is the fire in the Hearthstone Club and concocts the meals for the hot lunch program.

MRS. BARBARA BEHNKE finds time to teach two classes of Home Economics besides tending to her three children and husband Chuck.

Home Economics

MR. HOWARD MICHALSEN'S classes in the Vocational School, keeps the boys trim walking to and from their Machine Shop classes. A Masters Degree from Stout makes him an able instructor.

MR. ROBERT WALLACE, in spite of a serious operation this year, has kept his usual rapid pace in his Engineering-Drawing and Driver Education classes. Although he conducts Behind the Wheel Training, he remains patient and steady-nerved.

MR. ARTHUR KELM successfully manages to utilize his skills to teach Biology and Agriculture. Also, he is in charge of our progressive F.F.A. program.

Guidance

MR. CHARLES BEHNKE teaches one section of U.S. History and divides the rest of his time between the office and the golf course. He coaches Golf and Baseball and takes charge of the Student Exchange Program.

MR. VERNE APPLEMAN, our full time Guidance Counselor, also serves as advisor to National Honor Society.

Music and . . .

MR. JOHN KIMBALL, our Band Instructor, conducts the Dance Band and takes a personal interest in each student with his well-directed advice in preparation for Tournament Time each spring.

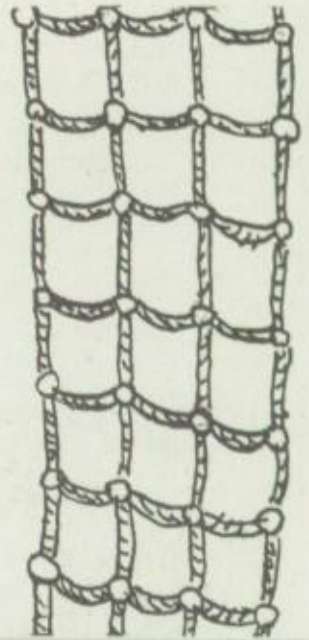

MRS. DIANE MADSON offers that extra something needed to blend the voices of chorus into "a song of angels." She has also spirited our fine Triple Trio.

MISS PAT HAUN, our energetic girls' Physical Education Instructor, supervises the G.A.A., the Bowling League, and Varsity Cheerleaders.

MISS JOYCE JONES adds a feminine touch to the Science Department through her Biology classes and manages to put the Freshman girls in shape through vigorous exercises in gym.

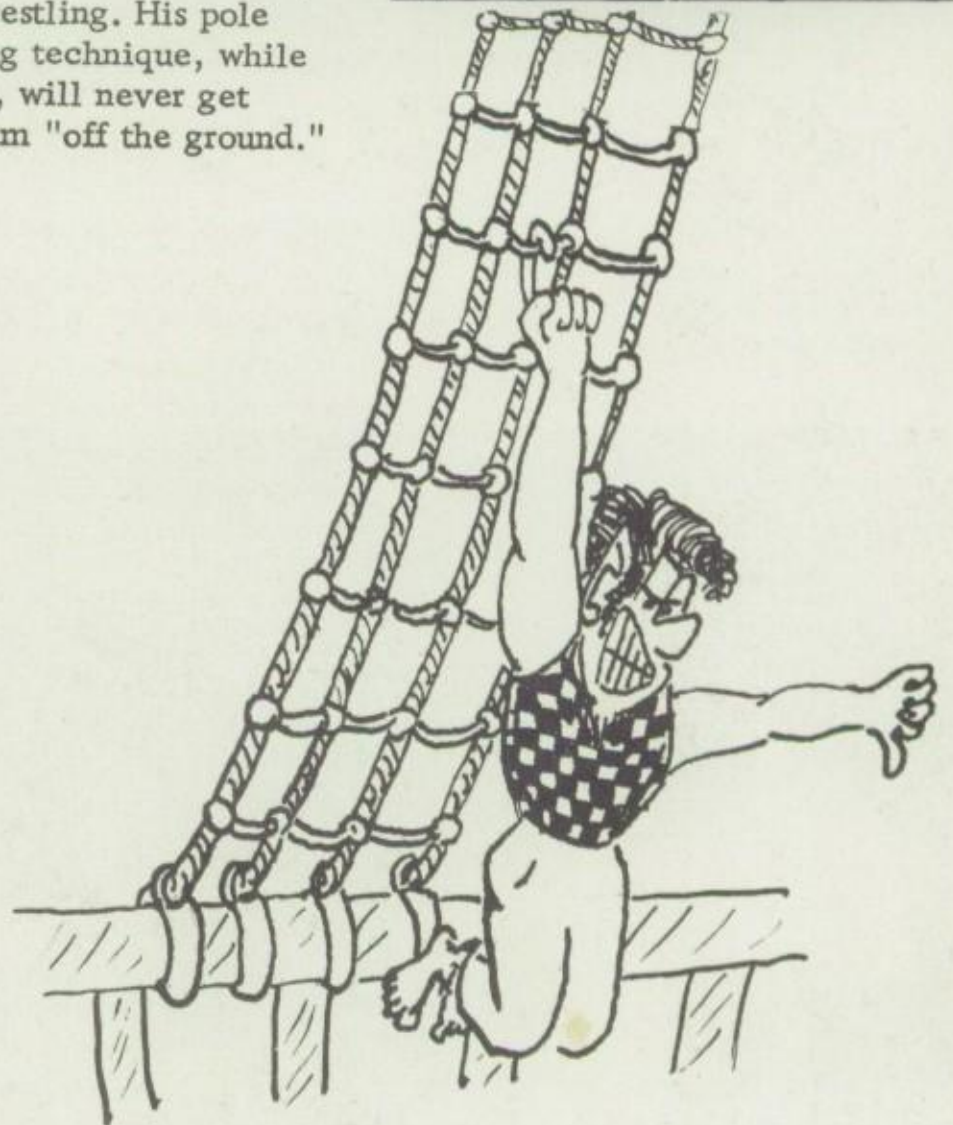

MR. JOHN WALSTRA, our Physical Education Instructor, coaches Cross-Country, Track and Field, and Wrestling. His pole vaulting technique, while unique, will never get the team "off the ground."

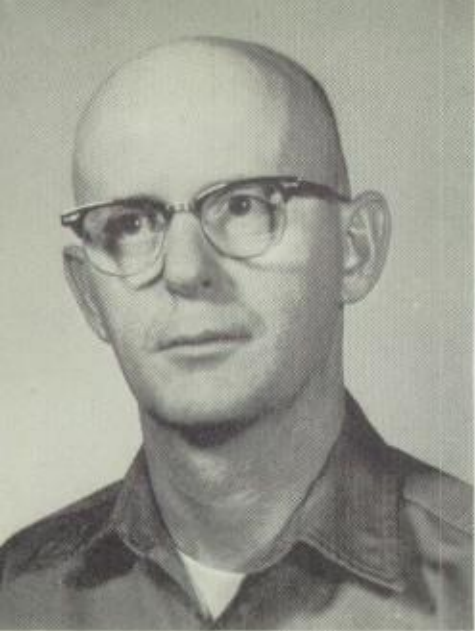

Physical Education

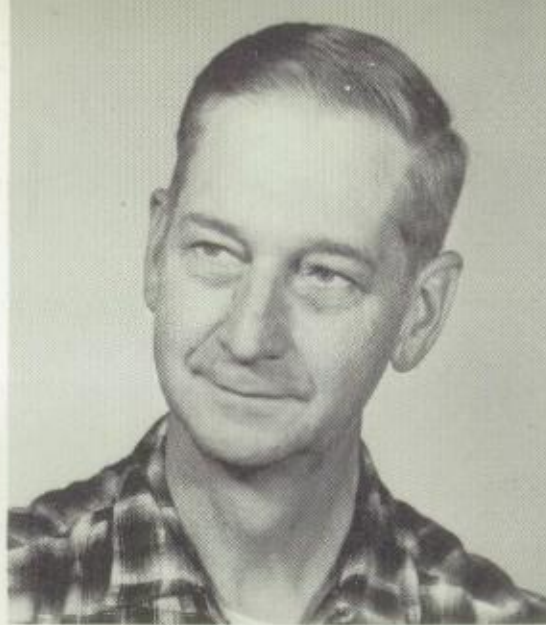

MR. FRANK BRAUN brings culture to our school through Art Exhibits and Displays. His classes round off our uncultured corners.

These five able-bodied seamen constantly keep our decks in ship-shape order . . .

. . . and our four cooks provide hearty meals for the famished crewmembers. From leeward are MRS. MONDLOCK, MRS. SCHNIEDER, and MRS. BARTELT. MRS. FOWLER was lying in sick bay so she could not appear.

Seniors

While in port, our triumphs were many and varied. Now as we, the first mates, began to realize the finality of our voyage, we looked for adequate leadership. From our ranks were elevated the following: Bill Lacy, president; Diane Rosewitz, secretary; John Strauss, vice-president; and Charlie Duff, treasurer who we knew could handle the mechanics of our last run. They directed us through the class picnic, banquet, and commencement proceedings, all done in ship shape order.

Each coveted piece has its own story. Momentarily the lead captors, these fellows step from the ranks of the opposite page to accept these spoils on behalf of their cohorts. Al Esselmann holds the plaque naming him the most valuable player of the year. His accurate kicking, elusive pass receiving, deadly blocking as combination end and tackle made him an opposition's nightmare. Teammates elected John Strauss and Charlie Duff the season's co-captains. The beautiful trophy they flank verifies an undefeated conference season. Ironically Fullback Bill Lacy and End Howard Clausung are standing behind the emblems of their best games, respectively. The traveling Bull Dog, maintaining its reputation, provided the toughest game in the season. Lacy played his hardest and jarred West Bend's star from the field. Clausung played less than a quarter against Cedarburg but those long arms showed talent and a defensive threat to recapture the Silver Sailboat. Lacy and Clausung's resulting injuries were felt but spirit will bear any load, as the team proved. Both Center Mike Schmit and Full Back Mark Melcher were recognized as all-conference mentions. Esselmann, Strauss, and Duff received all-conference ratings.

The undefeated season meant more than meets the eye. Coach Urness can testify to this (as he took the traditional shower fully clothed). These junior sailors and their first year coach keep hopes alive for future championships.

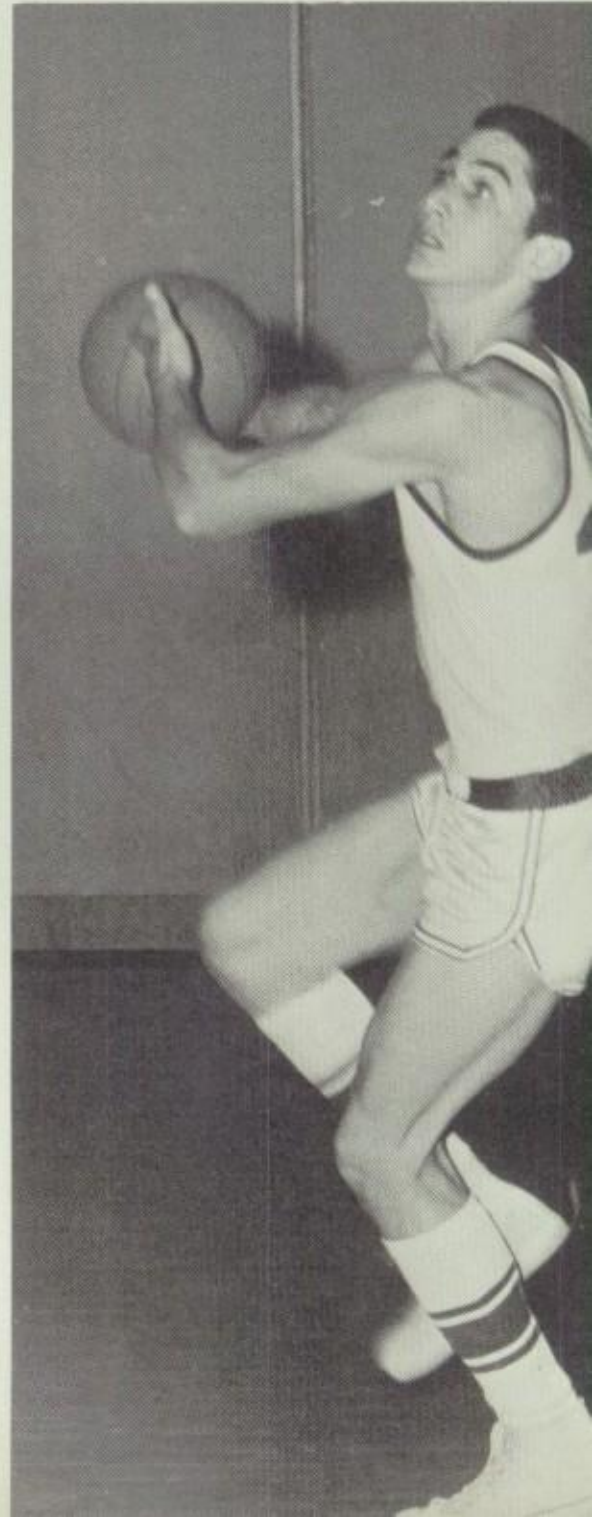

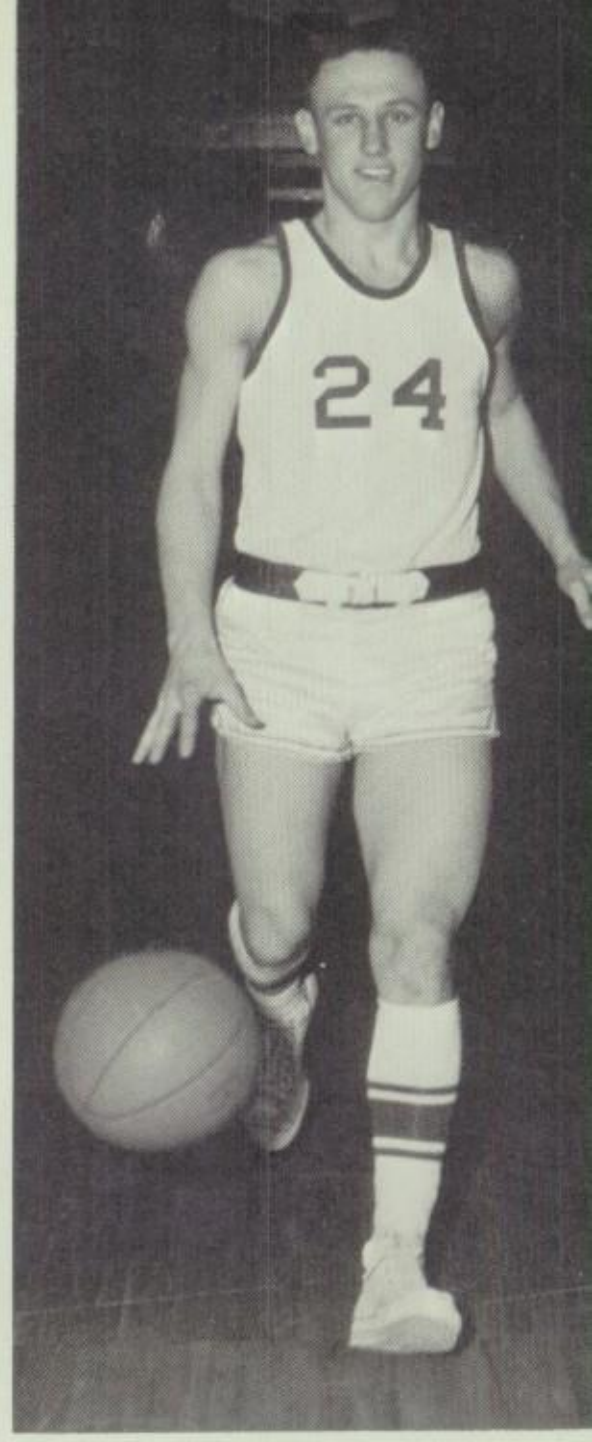

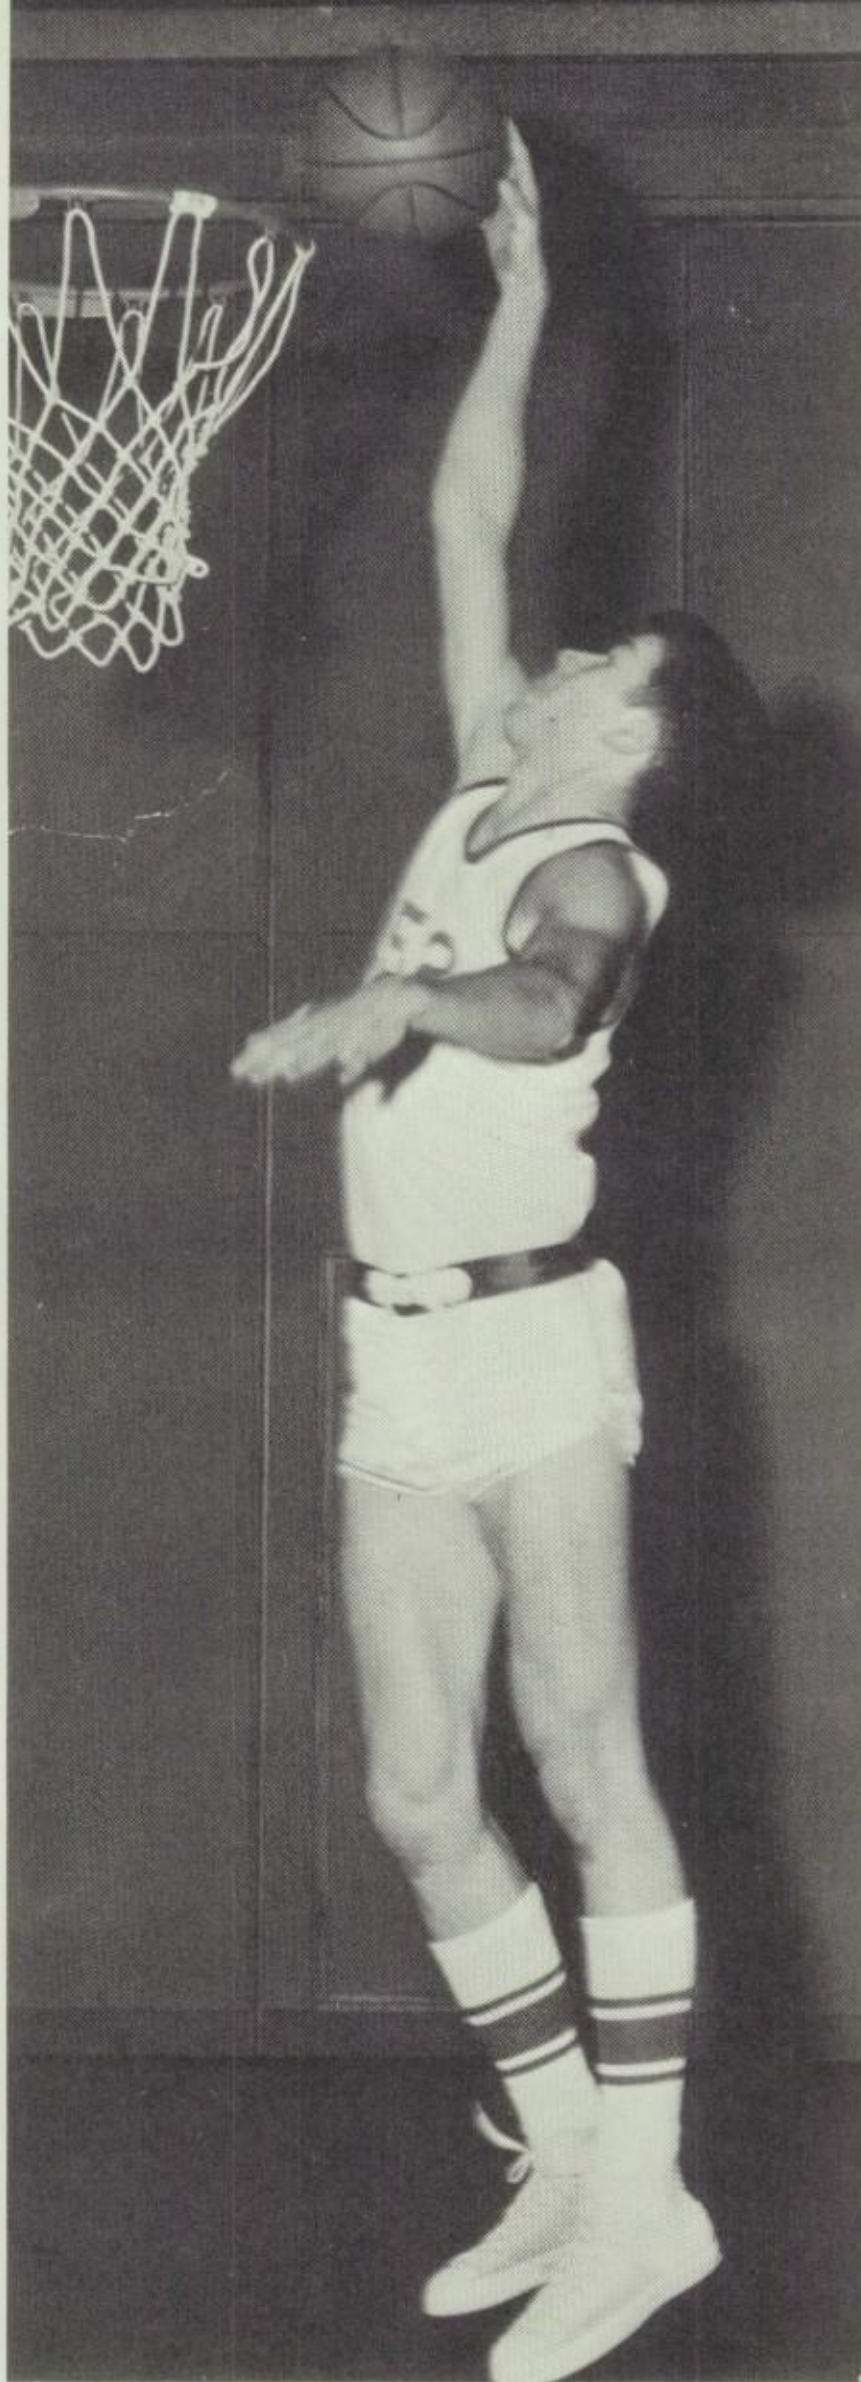

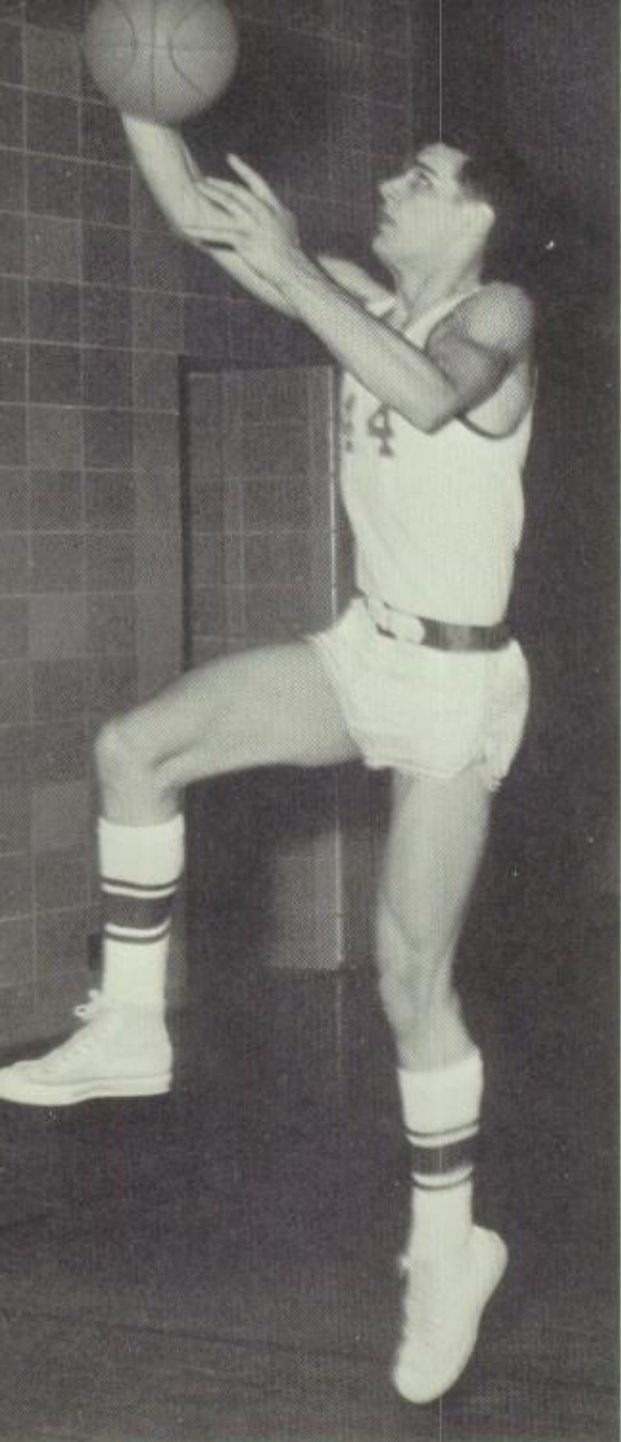

This class started as the first freshman team to practice during the summer. They put forth their utmost to learn and had desire to play. The season didn't meet goals, but they will be back next year with even more desire.

"Zenith" summarizes the heights to which the 1961-62 wrestling team has soared. The progress of this sports in its three-year history is unbelievable. This year our tanglers placed four points from the conference championship. In the final competition, they stepped from the regional meet one point under first place. Real anguish developed after the sectional meet repeated the same one-point story. The climax was our first state team--25th out of 91 state finalists.

Society

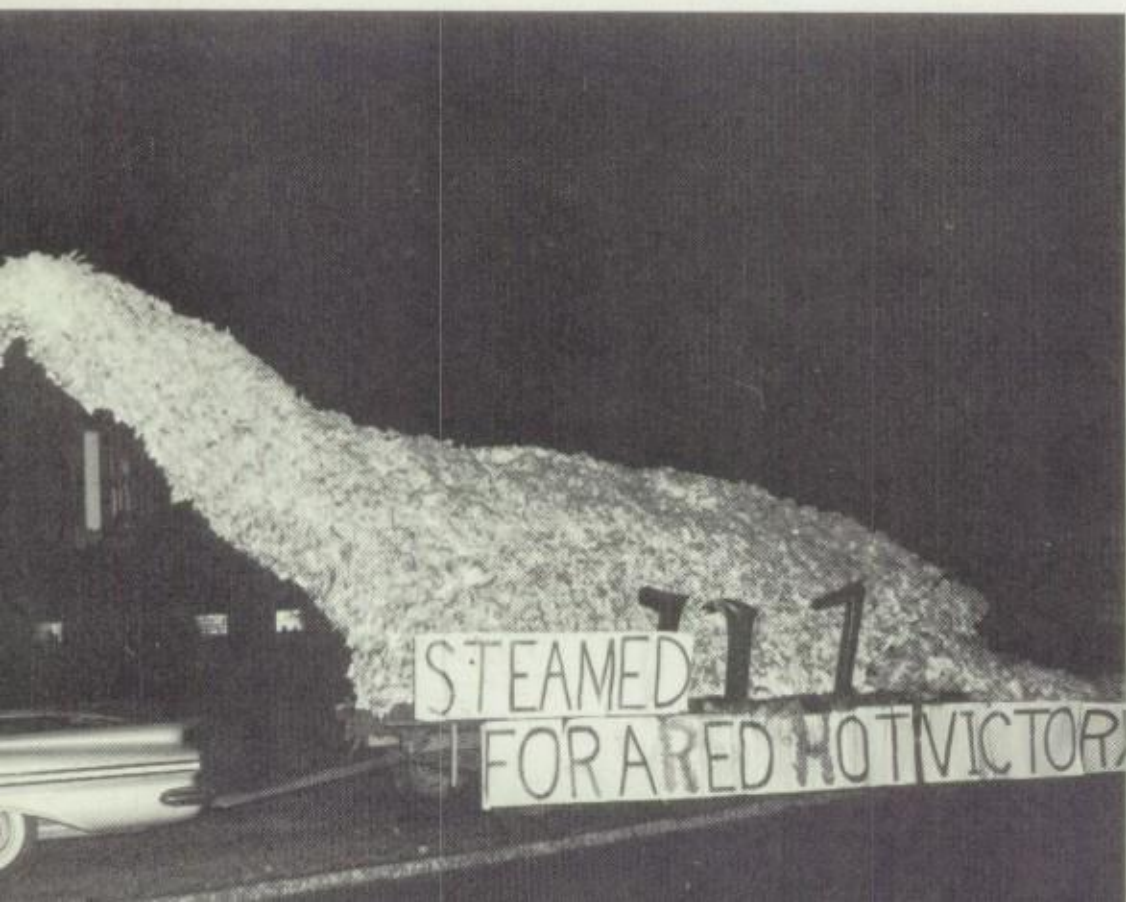

Luck was with our girls during their ride; only minutes after half-time everyone took shelter as a down-pour drenched the field.

Homecoming 1961

King Bill Lacy crowns Queen Mary Pauly.

Brian Peiffer, last year's king, passed his honor on to Bill Lacy.

Tired, but happy players and dates enjoyed themselves dancing after the game against Homestead. Harry Rothman with his toe-tapping music added to the triumphant feeling.

Homecoming Royalty: J. Strauss, D. Schanen, M. Melcher, L. Bichler, Queen Mary Pauly, King Bill Lacy, J. Hornslein, G. Zirbes, A. Duff, H. Clausing.

Sadie Hawkins . . .

After decorating the gym, Linda Kelm and Jean Erickson collect tickets from early arrivers.

Minutes after the annual staff finished decorating, Daisy Maes and Lil' Abners began to arrive on November 10. Eager girls secured their catches with a curtain wedding band and a hasty ceremony performed by Mr. Angelos who served as Marrin' Sam. Patty Bialzik, at left, and Joanne Hornslein, at right, made use of his services. However, some boys just couldn't wait for the girls, so Steve Schenwgel asked his "girl friend" and carried off the first prize pizza for the best dressed couple.

calls all girls.

"With this ring . . .

I thee wed."

Sir Harry smiles weakly as the butler announces the arrival of Kate, his ex-wife to his present wife who as yet does not have the twelve-pound look. Mary Pauly, George Schwengel, Andrew Arendt, Rozanne Ratatori brought to life "The Twelve-Pound Look," a nineteenth century drama.

One Act Plays Launch Drama Season.

Nancy Hartman disdainfully looks at a book oblivious to the effort of Paul Weining and Walter Chossek attempting to retrieve their pet spider. Amid the hub-bub Mary Heinen, Deirdre Schanen, Peggy Bostwick and Paula Watry quietly converse.

Jim Hill cries, "Why did they have to die?" to the perplexed editor John Joosse. Grouped behind them in the shadows of death are (SEATED) Ellen Rooney and Charlie Wolf, (STANDING) Joanne Jacque and Linda Kelm, (grouped) Helen Shampo, George Schwengel, Eddie Husting and Bill Lacy.

The living, editor John Joosse and Bruce Barber, (SEATED) Bill Vasilauskas, Clare Verheyen, Joanne Nagrocki, (pyramided) Mary Schuknecht, Melvin Werking, Dennis Ott, Kathy Bink, Mary Miller, (the celestials) Father Schmit, Sister Tucker try to understand "The Echo of Wings" as the souls rise to new heights.

Colorful costumes

A renegade from
Sadie Hawkins!

"It's my costume; I get half the prize!"

All day Jan. 27 hot-aired Block members filled the fish net ceiling with ethereal balloons for the first Mardi Gras. Pizza certificates for the best costumes were awarded to Squaw Alice Duff, Brave Howie Clausing, Slave Girl Angie Kolocek, Sultan Bob King, Mark Anthony Melcher, and Linda Cleopatra Bichler. Barb Cottrell, president of the Block, did the honors.

As students paraded, judges Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schmit, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Pauly, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Kane picked the best dressed couples. We respected their judicious decisions.

King Dick Plier crowns Queen Anne Kane and, after much persuasion from the crowd, tenderly planted a kiss on her cheek while court C. Wolf, B. Mueller, R. Wellenstein, G. Robbins, M. Melcher, L. Bichler looked on approvingly.

After a week of making posters, shaking hands and giving speeches Bill Lacy, Rotary's representative from Port, reigned victoriously as Governor of Badger Boys' State. Tired, but jubilant, Bill rode in the inaugural parade accompanied by William Steiger, 1955 Boys' State Governor. Seated left front is Marvin Roth of Janesville, Wisconsin, former Department Commander of the American Legion.

Badger Staters find summer port

Port High's 1961 delegates to Badger Boys' State at Ripon are Dale Kertcher, Saukville; John Joosse, Waubesa; Bill Vasilas, Kiwanis; Bob Gantner, Belgium; Jim Vogt, American Legion; Bill Lacy, Rotary. During that week the boys were given not only the opportunity to participate in the proceedings of local, county, and state government, but also to form many friendships with boys throughout the state.

1962 representatives to Badger Girls' State at Madison are anxiously awaiting their visit to the college campus. Looking forward to the hub-bub of activities are Sandy Stroessner, Saukville; Rachael Kraus, Fredonia; Joyce Hubing, Belgium; Sally Bell and Roberta Alder, American Legion.

Little did Mary, Barb and Paula realize what was in store for them at Badger Girls' State in Madison. In addition to making speeches and campaigning, the girls used the extra hours to peruse the campus and their plush quarters, Chadbourne Hall. Delegates to Badger Girls' State from Port High for 1961 are Paula Watry, American Legion Auxiliary; Barb Cottrell, Saukville; Mary Pauly, Rotary.

memorable, worthwhile.

Casual is the word for these 1962 delegates to Badger Boys' State. Contemplating preparation of campaign speeches for the governmental week at Ripon College are Mark Melcher, American Legion; Pat Collins, Rotary; Roger Wach, Waubeka; Dean Kohlway, Saukville; Charlie Wilson, Kiwanis.

A tough act to follow: J. Hill, the boy friend; M. Race, sister of the Barry; R. Antoine, mayor; P. Wiering, type cast; K. Bink, the town busybody; C. Larson, a hard-boiled moll; P. Bostwick, niece of the Barry; C. Wilson, an ad-libbing Mr. Barry; A. Kane, policewoman and P. Schmidt, missing (anyone knowing of his whereabouts please notify his mother as he has not been seen since the play); D. Grasse, busybody; W. Chossek, C. B. DeMille; E. Husting, who plays a small boy.

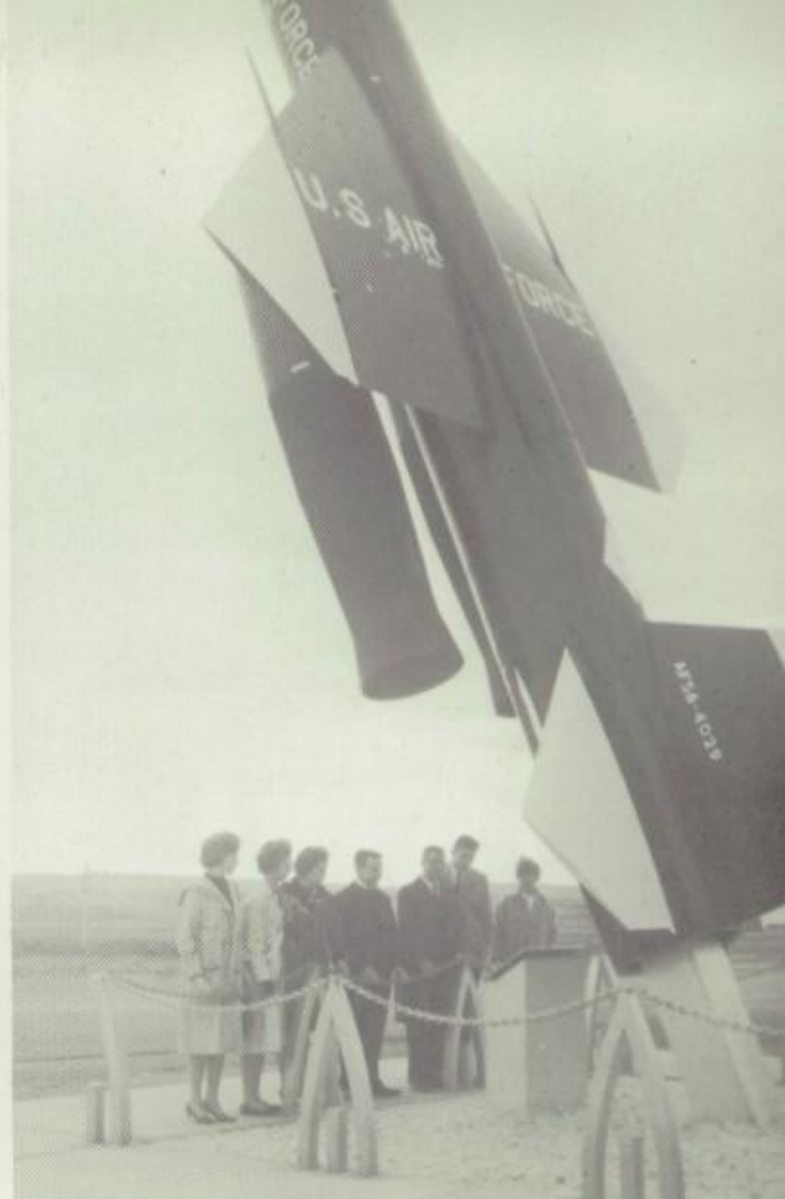

"Good Grief! Do men still wear two pieces!"

Money, Money, Money

"Mr. Barry's Etchings" are the only real source of revenue in a small declining community as he, in an attempt to bolster the economy, assumes part of the work load of the U.S. Treasury.

It's a bird . . . it's a plane . . . it's Jim Hill?

Trite but true, these Colorado visitors will never be forgotten. SITTING: J. Bradbury, B. Newhouser, S. Jaidinger, K. Hess, J. Burns, A. Graue, J. Kulp, K. Littlepage, G. Linkins, D. Glenn, B. Benson, B. Jarrett, Miss Ueckert. STANDING: B. Bryant, R. Sharky, K. Higgins, S. McNall, B. Cornelius, J. Bishop, D. Bromm, G. Wallace, D. Eberhardt, H. Eason, J. Brenimer, W. Gormley, Mr. Todd.

Port's Guatemalan Ambassador, Jackie Derler, points out places of interest she visited while touring the South Americas last summer. Though Port was not fortunate enough to be able to sponsor a foreign student, we felt that Jackie's visit benefited us greatly. Slides of Jackie's host parents and the landscape of Guatemala gave students and teachers alike a brief taste of South American atmosphere.

Several students were recognized for individual accomplishments: Charlie Wilson, Legion Oratorical trophy; Jerome Kienzle, American History student and German student as did John Joossee and Bill Vasilauskas; Paula Watry, DAR; and Charlie Duff, "W" Club medal and Legion Athletic Award.

Drama had an exciting season this year. As a result of the students' great interest and ability in the acting field, awards were presented to people who portrayed outstanding roles. SEATED: Carl Lindquist, stage manager; Clare Verheyen, best actress for her role in "Mr. Crane of Sleepy Hollow." STANDING: Paul Witzlib, best actor as Mr. Crane, Ellen Rooney, best supporting actress in "Echo of Wings"; and Jean Erickson, behind-the-scenes manager. Each of the actors and actresses received a book of plays for his efforts.

Quill and Scroll, a newly added honorary organization, awarded pins to deserving juniors and seniors. Eligibility depended upon the student's contribution to some phase of journalism. Charles Wilson accepts his pin from Miss Holz, POWAHISCAN advisor, as Mary Pauly and Nancy Moon look on. As Miss Trewyn, PIRATE advisor, carefully pins the award on Joyce Hubing, Clare Verheyen, Rozanne Ratatori, Bob King, John Joosse, and Bob Gantner smile their approval.

Pirates honor outstanding mates.

Oh's and Ah's were heard as the National Honor Society inducted new members. Sophomore, juniors and seniors with a 3.25 average are eligible. They must also possess the qualities of leadership, character and service. Present members M. Pauly, J. Derler, P. Watry, A. Neuenfeldt, S. Bathke, B. Cottrell, R. Ratatori, N. Moon, M. Heinen, M. Schanen, J. Joosse, and Mr. Appleman, advisor, greet the shocked newcomers, (SEATED) J. Strauss, B. King, B. Mallinger, C. Wilson, P. Bostwick, R. Adler, K. Schaefer, J. Scholl, K. Bink, R. Antoine, R. Hoffman, J. Swatek.

Juniors rolled out a red carpet inviting all to tunnel through a literary maze into the wonderland on the other side of the looking glass. The Mad Hatter, the White Rabbit (who incidentally wasn't late) and even Alice (thanks to Jim Hill) approved "Once Upon a Dream." No one believed King Dennis Grisar was nervous until he neglected to kiss Queen Sandi Stroessner.

The juniors took their prom worries (no tuxedos, early deadlines and false rumors) with a grain of salt--even the punch.

Court of Honor: R. Kraus, B. Moon, S. Bell, J. Boland, Queen--S. Stroessner, King--D. Grisar, M. Schanen, P. Collins, J. Schueller, C. Heatwole.

Every prom goer paused to admire the caterpillar dedicated to the junior class president, Ron Dayton, who pampered and reared it.

Court members John Boland and Sally Bell boldly face the scrutinizing crowd.

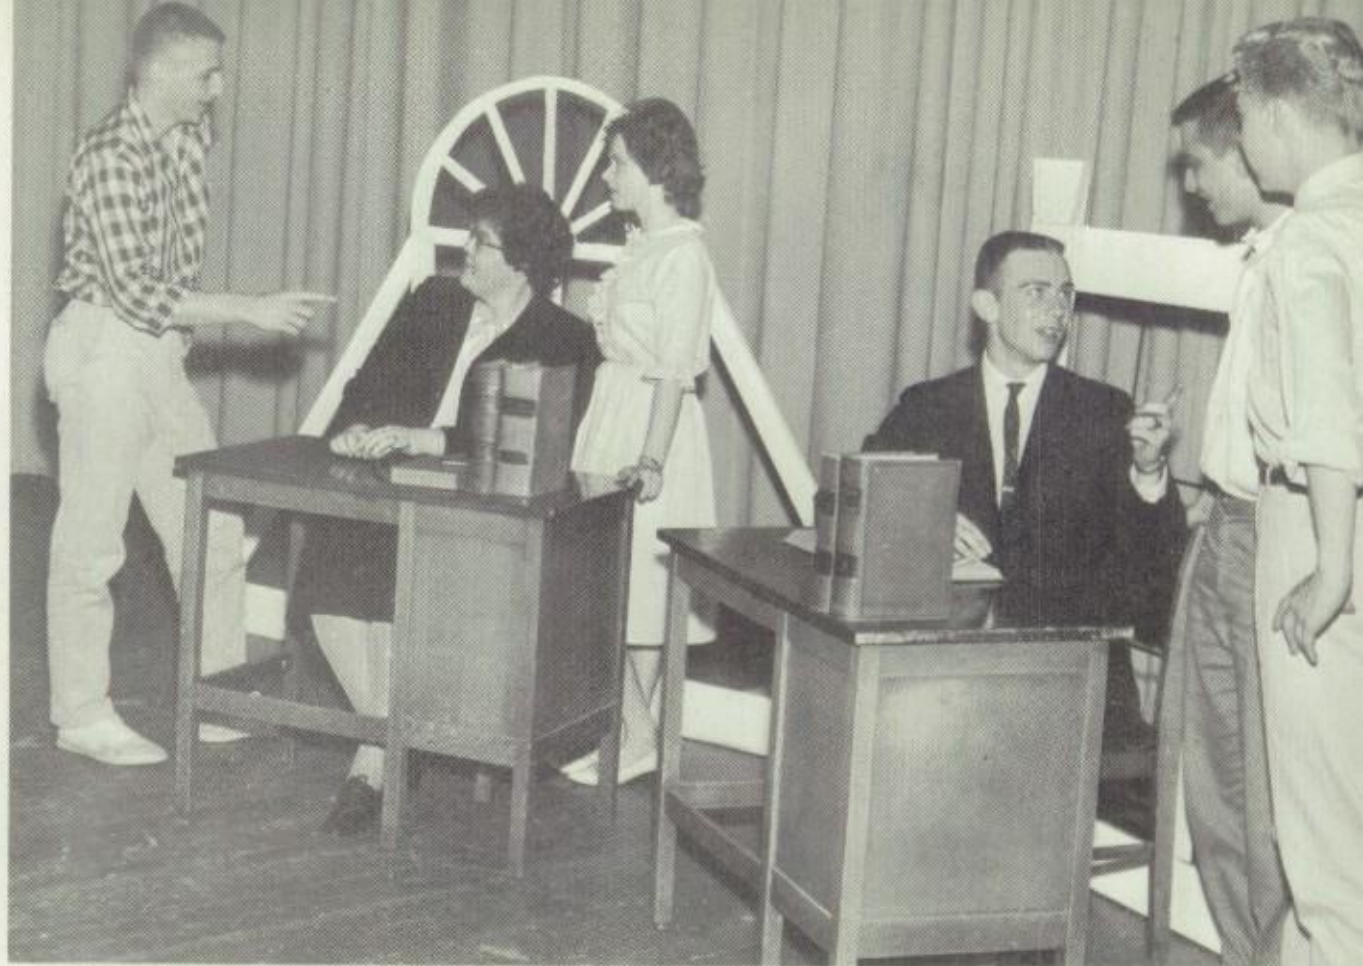

"Once Upon a Dream"

As all joined the grand march, spectators crowded close to behold the sea of formals and find their particular Jim or Jane and take just one more picture.

Through sheer skill the juniors captured more than the grin--a good luck charm for the class.

"Takes TWO to tango," says Ike Crane and Dean Alston as Dean Roberts gasps in shock and students of Sleepy Hollow and Hudson Academy nod in agreement.

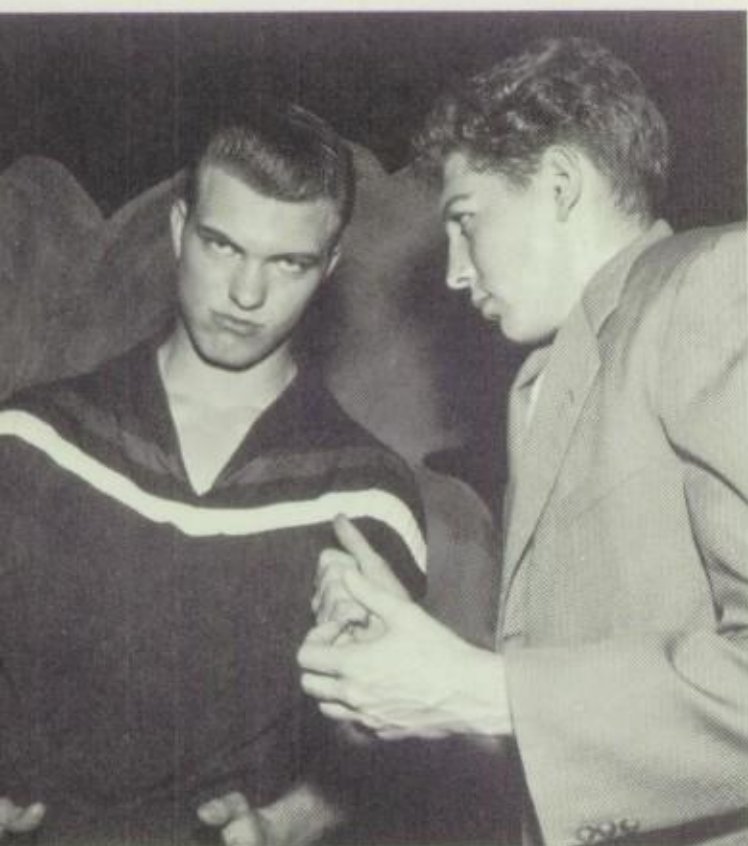

Out of chaos-- order--the orchestra--the backstage crew-- the cast and eventually a production of "Mr. Crane of Sleepy Hollow."

Mr. Sam DeMerit, man of the hour, greeted throngs of well wishers at a dinner honoring his devotion to the city of Port Washington. More than 400 people--sports figures and enthusiasts, faculty cohorts, members of his former athletic squad, and townfolk in general --gathered at a sit-down dinner in the high school gym. Speakers, presentations, and Sam's own rebuttal surely set this evening apart as "Sam DeMerit Night."

Sam De Merit,

we thank you.

Mrs. Sam DeMerit rose from her position of honor at the head table to accept honors with her husband. Athletic trophies brought by Sam's teams lined the stage and head table. Attached to the speaker's stand was the plaque awarded Sam's 1936 Class B State Championship Basketball Team.

An official Stout State College letter jacket seemed an appropriate gift. While at Stout a frugal Sam refrained from buying a sweater, but always kept his coveted letter with him. Mr. Ritchie proudly presents this symbol of the Blue Devils.

Varsity lettermen look on as club leaders present Sam with their symbol of achievement, a personalized blanket. Boys must earn at least eight major letters for this honor. Thus far only one other honorary blanket has been awarded, to the late "Pop" Foster. These Lettermen now enjoy the athletic benefits supplied them by the man who since 1926 has built the tradition associated with athletics at Port.

Senior advisors look on as Mr. Bleeke contemplates raising the price of tassels from 75 cents to $1 so he doesn't have to make change. Mr. Angelos, Mrs. Rosewitz, Mr. Murray, Mr. DeGroot, Mr. Tessmer all chuckle at his comprehensive decision.

Neil Shaver realistically expresses his feelings about driving in the monologue, "The Woman Driver."

June Schmitz seemingly admires Budward Arendt's high-fashion headdress.

"Remember, I get a dime for each wrong handshake" quoth Jim Murray forevermore.

*"Out of the harbor,

Bill Lacy, Senior Class President, puts into words what we have finally come to realize--the ultimate goal we must reach is to know ourselves before we can know the world.

Serious-faced and erect, the graduating class of 1962 nervously await presentation of their diplomas.

Seniors proudly accept their diplomas from Mr. Joseph Schmidt, president of the School Board. Floral pieces were arranged by Mr. Murray, senior advisor.

Graduation just completed, we greet well wishers and congregate as a class probably for the last time. Thoughts of post-parties are mixed with the more serious ones of what graduation really meant.

Thirty four-year honor students received congratulations from the Kiwanis. SEATED are K. Ernster, D. Rosewitz, S. Federspiel, E. Knippel, S. Bathke, K. Schmitz, N. Moon, A. Kane, B. Cottrell, M.
